

Suzan Frecon: Oil Paintings and Sun

This volume is the most vivid presentation to date of Suzan Frecons (born 1941) engagement in her studio practice with natural light--the always-varying subtleties of which she integrates into how the painting is created. The focal point of the catalogue is the painstakingly reproduced color plates of 14 recent paintings, many of which are depicted several times in various types of light and from multiple angles, allowing the reader to experience the work in a way that is more akin to seeing them in person. It also features an essay by art writer David Cohen that strives to explain the complexity of viewing and experiencing Frecons work. Rounding out the catalogue are numerous details and installation views, atmospheric color photographs of the artists studio and materials, and an illustrated visual appendix showing a selection of Frecons reference sources for the works, including commentary by the artist.
